

Khaana's management team is led by Founder and CEO James Burkart, a visionary leader who launched the company with a mission to bring fresh, high-quality meals to the community. He oversees company strategy, partnerships, and long-term growth. Supporting him is Samantha Smith, the Chief Operating Officer (COO), who manages daily operations, supply chain logistics, and vendor relationships to ensure smooth delivery of Khaana's products and services. The Chief Marketing Officer (CMO), Linda Williams, directs branding, advertising, and digital campaigns that expand Khaana's customer base and strengthen its presence in the competitive foodservice industry. Greg Hanson, Chief Financial Officer (CFO), is responsible for budgeting, financial planning, and investment strategies that drive profitability and support company expansion. As Head of Culinary Innovation, Helen Forman develops new recipes, designs seasonal menus, and champions sustainable sourcing strategies to keep Khaana's offerings fresh, diverse, and appealing. Rounding out the leadership team is Toby Scott, the Human Resources Director, who oversees recruitment, training, and employee development, ensuring Khaana remains a supportive and inspiring workplace. Together, this diverse and dedicated team combines expertise, creativity, and passion to uphold Khaana's commitment to exceptional foodservice.